1.Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In claim 8, paragraph c) applicant has added language that the hard coat is a "resinous coating", and yet there is no support for this in the specification as filed. Applicant needs to show where support exists for the coating to be a resinous coating or delete such language.

2.Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 8, line 7, "said interior hollow cavities" technically lacks antecedent basis in view of the amendment—applicant should insert –interior— before 'hollow" at line 3 of the claim as amended.

3.The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 8 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,811,729. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because of the reasons set forth in the previous action.

4. Applicant's arguments filed August 25, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant has amended the claims and in view of the amendments, 112 issues have been raised which needs to be addressed. However, applicant's comments that the instant claim is distinct from that of now issued US Patent 6,811,729 (ie, application number 09/982,044) are not persuasive. While the claim of -729 may make a marker with two inclined planar faces, the instant method now sets forth that the instant marker can be sonic welded, thereby producing a marker with two inclined faces. The partition and load carrying walls of the instant marker would appear to be the same as the "thin partition posts" recited in claim 1, line 12 of US Patent -729. It simply does not appear that the instant method differs in any unobvious way from the method as set forth in claim 1 of the above-noted patent. Also, applicant should note that the claim is directed to a method, not an apparatus. To effectively obviate the double patenting, there should be some processing steps involving some structural features in the instant method, which are not recited in claim 1 of US Patent -729.
